

NOTICE: The Defense Personal Property System (DPS) now has its own homepage.

The Joint Program Management Office (JPMO) for Household Goods Systems (HHGS) for DPS proudly introduces the DPS website <http://www.move.mil>.

This site was designed and developed to meet the needs of all users of the DPS. As a centralized service the site provides information to all of our stakeholders to include Department of Defense (DOD) Customers, such as military members, DOD civilians, and their families; Personal Property Shipping Offices (PPSOs); and Transportation Service Providers (TSPs) including representatives, business partners, and agents.

The website provides many key features with various functionalities such as a link to access DPS, newsletters, frequently asked questions (FAQs), and where to direct questions about DPS. The built-in search capability allows users to find information with ease. An additional feature allows for the subscription to DPS newsletters and infograms by online registration. The navigation menu is also easily accessible and categorized by the types of users such as DOD Customer, PPSO, and TSP.

The site grows every day but there is still room for improvement. Our goal is to reflect and satisfy your business requirements for personal property moves. We will continue to improve the site with logical layout changes and by enriching its content. We welcome you to send feedback/suggestions regarding our website to the site webmaster at move.mil.webmaster@ustranscom.mil. Where possible we will use them to improve our web service.

We would like to give our special thanks to SDDC for hosting DPS on their site as we developed our site. DPS has now built its own home and from this new home we are excited to serve our customers. Click <http://www.move.mil> to take you to the website.
